The Grand Result.

The smoke of the battle-field having cleared away, we can see the extent of the Union victory on the 8th.

Glorious New England in solid column—the middle States with but two exceptions—the whole West and Northwest in a body—contain the policy of the Administration, and proclaim that the war must be prosecuted until the authority of the government is obeyed in all the States in rebellion. The miserable characters who constructed the Chicago Platform—the peace at any price platform—have been most signally rebuked.

The electoral college will exhibit the following figures:

State	Electors	Union	Secession
California	9	9	0
Connecticut	7	7	0
Delaware	3	3	0
Florida	11	0	11
Georgia	11	0	11
Illinois	13	13	0
Indiana	13	13	0
Iowa	11	11	0
Kentucky	11	0	11
Louisiana	11	0	11
Maine	7	7	0
Maryland	11	0	11
Massachusetts	11	11	0
Michigan	11	11	0
Minnesota	11	11	0
Missouri	11	0	11
Montana	3	3	0
New Hampshire	7	7	0
New Jersey	11	11	0
New York	36	36	0
Ohio	23	23	0
Oregon	3	3	0
Pennsylvania	23	23	0
Rhode Island	4	4	0
South Carolina	11	0	11
Tennessee	11	0	11
Vermont	7	7	0
Virginia	11	0	11
Washington	3	3	0
Wisconsin	11	11	0
Wyoming	3	3	0
Total	285	235	50

But the voice of the Electoral College does not ring more sonorously or more clearly than that of the people. The popular majority will certainly be less than five hundred thousand. Is there not enough in this to cause the heart of every true friend of liberty and republican institutions to swell with pride and exultation? The white slaves of Jeff Davis, scattered throughout the North, can no longer speak of ABRAHAM LINCOLN as a "minority president." He and his Administration bears the stamp of the People's approbation, and none can now gainsay the fact.

The result does not stop here. Its scope is broader and deeper. It gives the supporters of freedom the requisite two-thirds majority in Congress to amend the Constitution and abolish slavery, forever. Set up a monument of progress there! Rejoice, oh friend of man, this day! And soon it shall be said of our country, as it is said of Great Britain, not a slave presses its soil—all, all, are free.

Southern Illinois.
The Chicago Tribune says: "There is no part of the States where the gains have been more satisfactory than in the Thirteenth District. This was until the present election overwhelmingly democratic. Since first the district was organized, it has been 'laid upon' to furnish to order all required democratic majorities to overcome the Republican majorities in the Northern part of the State, and in that regard it has never disappointed party expectations. If our readers will scrutinize carefully the reported majorities and compare them with the vote of 1860, they will discover evidences of a change of sentiment that almost staggers belief. Take the county of Johnson, that in 1860 gave Mr. Lincoln but 40 votes, and Mr. Douglas 1,563. This year that insignificant tally has swollen, until it overtops the Democratic vote by over 1,000. This is wonderful. And there are changes in other counties in the district equally marked and equally wonderful. This notice of the victory in the Thirteenth District would be incomplete were not special and grateful mention made of the efforts of General Hayne, General John A. Logan, General Oglesby, General Palmer, and a host of able and noble speakers who have contributed their time and talents to secure this glorious result."

"The People Have So Decided."
The Chicago Post which warmly supported McClellan says:
The election is over. The rebellion is still in existence. It must be put down primarily by armed force. He who wants peace should see that the shortest way to peace is by the bayonet. The rebels will not submit as long as they can fight, and their military power must be overcome. Peace must be conquered, and the only way to conquer it now is to make the armies large enough to overcome all opposition. Taxation is oppressive and will be more so; drafts are severe and distressing and numerous, but they are inevitable. War is a bloody and expensive injury, and its consequences must be borne. There is no escape from the responsibility of meeting the rebellion and fighting out the battle. The people have so decided.

The Post does not misrepresent the decision of the people. They have decided that the battle must be fought out, and it will be fought out to a consummation which will make our country a far greater, and a more powerful nation, commanding more than ever, the respect of the civilized world. Nor is the Post wrong when it owns that the "shortest way to peace is by the bayonet," if we intend to suppress the rebellion and perpetuate the Union. We have certainly reached that point in this war when no one, not wilfully blind, can fail to see this. Armies, diplomacy, the "resources of statesmanship," would prolong the struggle. Let us, therefore, wield the whole military power of the nation, if necessary, and bring the war to a speedy close. If the armies already in the field are not large enough, reinforce them until they are sufficiently strong to crush the rebel armies by a single blow. This done, and we shall have peace, and a Union, which shall not again be jeopardized by conspirators and traitors.

Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Md., died thirty-two years ago yesterday, and was the last survivor of those who signed the Declaration of Independence.

The 22nd Michigan Infantry voted, for Lincoln 179, McClellan 33, the 25th Michigan, for Lincoln 124, McClellan 23.

BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Sunday Mercury has what purports to be a translation from a Bahia paper relative to the capture of the Florida. It says: "After the capture of the Florida, the vessel was towed to the Washington, where it was captured at once prepared for sea. The small guns of the Florida and her crew were removed to the Washington, and a portion of her engines were away to prevent her escape. As she was going out the people gathered on the shore, and batteries were leveled at the vessel. Some men on the Washington then fired revolvers at the spectators, which increased the excitement, but the vessel left the port.

The Mercury says the residence of the American Consul at Bahia was molested by the populace, and our Minister compelled to put to sea, having been virtually driven out of the Empire. We understand that the Brazilian authorities to call out an army in order to suppress the riot. Secretary Stanton is understood to be very ill with inflammation of the bowels. He has not been able to be at the War Department for the past week. It is reported that General Hancock, in consequence of the condition of his wounds, is to be relieved of the command of the 2d corps, and assigned to the command of the Department of Washington. General Anger succeeded him in the Army of the Potomac. The deputation from different quarters of England who came to this country to attend the yearly Quaker meetings of the Friends at Baltimore and North Carolina, were, upon the application of this country, to be present. The number of Quakers present was estimated at 10,000. The number of Quakers present was estimated at 10,000. The number of Quakers present was estimated at 10,000.

Two weeks from next Thursday is the day appointed by the President as Thanksgiving Day. Not until within the past few years has this appointment, usually made by the Governors of the respective States, been generally observed, except in the Northern States. There it is one of the great events of the year, and is chosen as the time of reunion of all the members of the family under the ancestral roof-tree. Aside from the higher purposes and intents of the day, this is a custom that is worthy of general imitation. And now that the appointment is made by the President, and will be observed in all the States, in the army and navy at the same time, it will be a touching thought, that in thousands of homes families will be reunited, save those members who sleep the quiet sleep that knows no earthly waking on the banks of the Potomac, in the desolated valleys of Georgia, or the wide prairies of the Western States, wherever our army has moved on its onward course, there are some that will never again meet around the family table on Thanksgiving-day. Even the consciousness that they are numbered with that band of glorious heroes that our country will not forget, that around their pale brow the laurel wreath of the victor was entwined, will hardly atone for their loss. Ah, Heaven knows that Thanksgiving, the 24th of November, will be a tearful one in many a quiet home.

Iowa.
Glorious Iowa has given not less than 40,000 majority for the Union ticket including the vote of her gallant soldiers. Iowa increases her majority about 10,000 every year. Before the next Presidential election or mid-winter she will have gone out of sight.

We cheerfully devote a portion of our columns this morning to the relation of an event as agreeable in its nature as it was unlooked for in its occurrence. Our readers will bear in mind that a few days ago an elegant specimen of our national colors was hoisted on the new flag staff at the Chattanooga depot. The occasion drew together a large concourse of people to witness the scene, and listen to the patriotic sentiments there enunciated. This beautiful flag which cost $150, was subscribed for and bought by the Clerks of Col. Crane's office, and, with the following set of resolutions, most beautifully executed in the highest style of calligraphy by Mr. John Crowley, one of their number, presented to Colonel Crane as a testimonial of their regard for him as an officer and a gentleman.

In this connection we take pleasure in adding our testimony to the distinguished ability Col. Crane has displayed in the management of his responsible duties, to the zeal and fidelity with which he has served the government, and we also add our thanks for the many improvements he has made about the depot, and for the gentlemanly reception he has ever extended to those who have had any business relations with him.

MILITARY DIVISION OF THE MICHIGAN.
QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, U. S. M. R. R., Nashville, Tenn.
At a meeting of the Clerks of this office, held Nov. 5th, 1864, the following preamble and resolutions were submitted and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Col. Jno. C. Crane, Inspector of Quartermaster's Department, has, by the zeal and ability which he has exhibited in the discharge of his multifarious duties, and by the uniform kindness and courtesy we have at all times received at his hands, greatly endeared him to us all, and in order to testify in an appropriate manner our appreciation of Colonel Crane as a gentleman and a faithful officer, be it resolved, That we present him with the emblem of our national greatness, the stars and stripes, in the sustaining of which he has displayed the most unbounded patriotism and devotion to the cause of freedom.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing be suitably engrossed and framed, and presented to Col. Crane, with the following wishes for his future prosperity and happiness:

Prizes Captured.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—It has already been announced that the Navy Department, yesterday received dispatches from Rear Admiral Porter, commanding the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron, announcing the capture of two more steamers off Wilmington, while running the blockade, viz: the Lucy and the Annie. The following particulars are now stated:
The Lucy was captured on the 2d inst., by the Santiago de Cuba, having a cargo of 544 boxes of coffee and 25 barrels of tobacco. She was built in Liverpool by Jones, Quigley & Co., is an iron or steel sidewheel steamer of about 500 tons, and similar to the Benches, captured some time ago and now in the naval service. The Annie was captured on the 31st ult., by the Wilderness and Nippon, with a cargo of 518 boxes of cotton, 30 tons of tobacco and 15 barrels of turpentine. She was built by Dalgion, of London; is a double screw iron steamer of about 400 tons, and is of the same class as the Lucy, now in the naval service and some eight or ten steamers, which have been captured or destroyed within a year, all built by the same party.

During some recent excavations in Rome a magnificent gilt bronze statue of a youthful Hercules, fourteen feet high was discovered.
